Arab-Jewish War Seen If British Plan Adopted

Special
ZURICH—A warning that creation of a Jewish State without Arab consent would lead to an Arab-Jewish War was made by Dr. Judah L. Magnes, chancellor of the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, at the World Zionist Congress here. "I do not have hesitation in saying I am afraid of the consequences of a Jewish State—afraid for my people," Dr. Magnes declared. "I do not want to see a Jewish State born and conceived in warfare."

Continuing further, Dr. Magnes said that a Jewish State would not solve the Jewish problem in Poland and Rumania and would stimulate false hopes among the Jews.

Dr. Magnes' warning was issued as he introduced a resolution, which was defeated, calling for negotiations with the League, Great Britain and the United States to consider the best means of establishing an Arab-Jewish State.

Seek Peaceful Solution

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK—Negotiations are under way between Americans of Jewish and of Arab origin in an attempt to work out a peaceful solution of Arab-Jewish differences in Palestine, a dispatch to the New York Times from Geneva said.

The basis of the discussion is a proposal to apply to Palestine the federal principle found in the United States Government, according to the Times report.

Disclosure of the Arab-Jewish talks was made, according to the Times, by Adli Arslan, one of the Arab Supreme Committee's delegates in Geneva, who visited the United States several years ago.

Raise Anti-Partition Fund

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
JERUSALEM—An anti-partition campaign fund, to be administered by Vladimir Jabotinsky, leader of the New Zionist Organization, was launched here by a general committee. Among trustees of the fund is Professor Joseph Klausner.

Changes Promised, Report

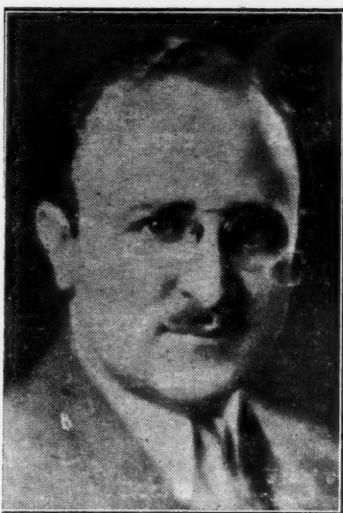

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON—Important changes in the British partition plan for Palestine, in line with Jewish demands, have been promised by William G. A. Ormsby-Gore, colonial secretary, to Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization, the Jewish Chronicle asserted.

Judge Chastises 2 For Insulting Jews

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON—"You really want a good sound hiding," Police Magistrate Metcalfe said in sentencing a window-cleaner and a veneer to forty shillings fine or a month's jail sentence for using insulting words and behavior towards Jews. "Jews are as much entitled to live in peace and quietude as a couple of miserable boys like you," the Magistrate told Thomas Brooks, 28, the window-cleaner, and Albert Wells, 17, the veneer, in Old Street Court.

The two were charged with sticking on a lamp-post a poster saying: "Britons awake! Jews are stealing your country!" and with making insulting noises and gestures to Jews passing by.

On Air Saturday

Dr. Joseph L. Fink of Temple Beth Zion, Buffalo, N. Y., who will speak Saturday, Aug. 28, at 11:00 a.m., E.S.T., on the Union of American Hebrew Congregations weekly broadcast, "The Call to Youth." The program is carried by the coast-to-coast Blue Network of the National Broadcasting Company.

Judaism Revival In Soviet Feared

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
MOSCOW — Proclaiming that "atheism can be planted in the souls of children from the youngest age," the Yiddish Communist paper Emes this week called for a schoolroom drive to counteract a religious revival among Jews in Russia.

The religious movement, which is causing anxiety in Jewish Communist circles, should be met, Emes declared, by increased propaganda against religion.

An energetic religious campaign is being conducted by rabbis, "not without success," the paper pointed out. Scores of children in the province of Mohilov-Podolsk, it said, stayed away from school during the Passover holidays last spring and participated in the Seder ceremony, asking the traditional "four questions" which are children's part of the Passover ritual.

Jewish War Vets To Select 150 Great American Heroes

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK—All Jewish survivors of the wars in which the United States has fought will be invited to serve as members of a monster jury to select the names of the 150 greatest Jewish patriots of American history from 1789 to 1939 for inclusion in a proposal hall of fame which the Jewish War Veterans of the United States is preparing as the highlight of its exhibit at the 1939 New York World's Fair. An announcement to this effect was made here this week by Michael Weinstein, Louis Freeman and Martin Horowitz, co-chairmen of the National Convention Committee, which is preparing for the 42nd annual encampment of the Jewish War Veterans at Asbury Park, N. J., from September 23 to 26.

The plan is to set up a gallery of life size pictures of the most celebrated Jewish patriots from the days of the American Revolution to our own time. The figure 150 was selected because that would provide one celebrity for each of

Colonization Plan For Costa Rica Hits Snag

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK—The colonization project for exiled German Jews in Costa Rica has encountered opposition within the Central American republic, according to a dispatch from San Jose to the New York Times.

A front page story in the Diario de Costa Rica demanded strict enforcement of the immigration laws with regard to the proposed colony, the Times dispatch said, quoting the Costa Rican paper as follows:

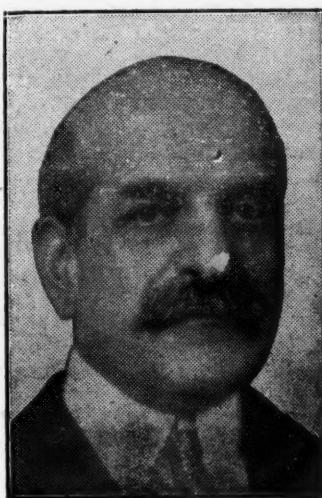

"The mere possession of the Tenorio estate is no reason why the Government should not enforce existing immigration laws which are aimed not only to exclude undesirable but also to protect Costa Rican workers from the competition of unemployed foreigners."

"Our laws are final and do not permit exceptions. The impression exists in official quarters that the establishment of Jewish families here would create a problem extremely dangerous to the country's future because such groups are never absorbed but remain indifferent to and outside national interests. The company's capital is reported at $12,000,000. This amounts to 67,000,000 colons and would serve only to create a State within a State and an economic structure separate from the nation's." (Tenorio is the 50,000-acre tract purchased for the colony by the Refugee Economic Corporation).

CANTOR HEADS UNION

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK — Eddie Cantor, famed radio and screen star, blossomed out as a labor leader last week when he was elected president of the American Federation of Radio Artists, thus becoming the head of the American Federation of Labor drive to organize all performers and announcers in the broadcasting industry.

Faulhaber Makes 2d Denunciation

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
MUNICH, Germany—Officiating at a royal wedding, Cardinal Faulhaber denounced the Nazi principle of "race breeding."

Lauding the church sacrament of marriage, the Cardinal said:

"When, however, wedlock is instituted as an instrument of racial breeding—by which the lowest level of ethics is attained—a nation is unable either to achieve national renaissance or to rise to a really high cultural standing."

Nazis Flay Cardinal

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
MANNHEIM, Germany—Cardinal Faulhaber, Archbishop of Munich, was sharply attacked by the organ of the neo-pagan "German Knowledge of God" movement as an enemy of the Reich, a friend of the Jews and an avowed pacifist.

The publication, Die Siegrune, heatedly assailed him declaring: "If we are ready to struggle to the end for our sacred conviction, we will succeed in creating a total racist state despite Christian hypocrisy and the millions of Jewish capital. Then our dear Germany will have one people, one fuhrer, one Reich, one religion."

Jew Named To Board Of U. of Minnesota

Special
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—A one-time "cheder-jung" is going to help guide the destinies of the University of Minnesota as a member of its board of regents under a six-year appointment by Governor Benson—the first Jew to be named to the University's governing body.

He is George B. Leonard, more than two score years a lawyer. He was twice offered the chief justiceship of the Minnesota state supreme court and twice turned down the offer.

NEW COLONY OPENED

JERUSALEM—A new agricultural settlement named Kfar Szold in honor of Henrietta Szold, founder of Hadassah, American Women's Zionist Organization, was opened east of Gedera.

May Forestall Partition, Bring Palestine Peace

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
ZURICH—The Council of the Jewish Agency for Palestine closed its fifth biennial session early Sunday morning after compromises had brought about harmony on the two main issues—British proposals to partition Palestine and non-Zionist demands for parity in the Agency Executive.

A resolution was adopted providing both for negotiations with Great Britain on establishment of a Jewish State, as demanded by the Zionists, and for parleys with the Arabs to seek a peaceful settlement in an undivided Palestine, as urged by the American non-Zionists.

2 Non-Zionists Added

The question of composition of the Agency Executive was settled by increasing the non-Zionist representation from three to five, the number of Zionists remaining at seven. In addition, six non-Zionists were elected to the political committee set up by the Zionist Organization in London, matching the six members of this committee chosen by the Zionist General Council.

In introducing the political resolution, Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Agency, paid tribute to the broad-mindedness and cooperativeness of the non-Zionists, naming particularly Felix M. Warburg, Sol Stroock and Max Steuer of New York. He pointed out that the part of the resolution providing for approaching the British Government with a request that it convene an Arab-Jewish conference was the contribution of the American non-Zionists.

While criticizing the British Government and the Palestine administration, Dr. Weizmann said that Great Britain, more than any other power, understood Jewish needs and aspirations. "Come what may the Jewish people will remain bound to Britain by unbreakable ties of gratitude and goodwill," he said.

Points In Resolution

The Council's resolution contains the following points:

1. It expresses agreement with the main conclusions of the political resolution adopted by the World Zionist Congress.
2. It rejects the assertion of the Royal Commission that the League of Nations mandate has proved unworkable, condemns the "palliative proposals" put forward by the Royal Commission, including severe limitations on Jewish land settlement and the setting of a political high level on Jewish immigration.
3. It reaffirms the Jews' readiness to reach a peaceful settlement with the Palestine Arabs based on the free development of both peoples and mutual recognition of their respective rights. It directs the Executive to persevere in its efforts to this end, and with this object in view to request the British Government to convene a conference of Jews and Arabs to explore the possibilities of making a peaceful settlement between the two peoples in an undivided Palestine on the basis of the Balfour (Continued on Last Page)

The Editor's Chair:

Recently the Boston Rabbinical Association saw fit to issue a statement urging congregants to return from their vacations early in order to be able to celebrate the High Holidays properly in their Houses of Worship. That pronouncement, it seemed to me, was unnecessary, for I could not understand how anyone would think it possible to solemnize Rosh Hashonah or Yom Kippur at a summer resort or a vacation hotel.

But it seems now that there was reason enough for the stand by the Boston Rabbis. Summer resorts and hotels are waging a brisk battle for the Rosh Hashonah trade, urging Jews to spend the holidays at their establishments in temporary synagogues set up in the dining room, or some other hall on the premises. Itinerant rabbis, the advertisements parade, have been secured to conduct services.

Now it is understandable to some degree how Passover could be observed with some propriety at a beach hotel. After all Passover is not so much of a solemn occasion, it is more or less one of the joyous festivals.

But how anyone can beseech the Great One to give him a good year, can chant the prayer "Ashomnu", and show true penitence in a vacation environment is more than even the devil would have been able to figure out.

Of course there is the money saved through not having to purchase seats in a synagogue. And then too Rosh Hashonah falls on Labor Day and probably will be unbearably hot. But these are excuses for no one except the resort owners.

The low state to which Judaism has fallen is no more abundantly illustrated than in this trek to hotels for the High Holidays. But that is not all.

The day is not far off when some enterprising hotel owner will construct a huge Synagogue-hotel at Atlantic City or somewhere in the mountains. The combination would be unbeatable. The new establishment would not make it necessary for the management to clear away the seats (pews) after Kol Nidre so that dancing could go on uninterrupted. At holiday seasons, the regular hotel patrons could hie himself off to his Synagogue-Hotel and after a cooling swim, dress and don his talith for the performance of his orerous religious duties.

Yes, the day is not far off. That is if Judaism will last that long.

The Decline Of The World Zionist Congress

NO BETTER example of the apostasy of the World Zionist Congress in its vote in favor of the British Plan is needed than that group's bitter irritation at the matter-of-fact press report that it had approved partition.

Sixty delegates, afraid of their standing in the Jewish world when the full import of their cowardice is realized, signed a protest against the newspaper report which they termed inaccurate because it stated the facts a little more baldly than these weak soldiers of the Jewish cause would have it be. The protest read:

"We express our embitterment and surprise against the editor of the Kongress Zeitung and Palcor for their inaccuracy in reporting the majority resolution of the Congress in a sense interpreted to mean that the Congress allegedly decided in favor of partition when in fact the resolution took no attitude on partition and postponed the whole matter for a decision at the next Congress. In a matter which is of the greatest importance to the fate of the Zionist movement the greatest accuracy must be exercised and incorrect interpretations avoided."

If the World Zionist Congress majority which voted to dicker with England on the establishment of a Jewish State did not thereby vote in favor of the partition then Hitler is not a Nazi. What was it that offered the creation of a Jewish State if it was not the recommendations of the Royal Commission proposing the partition of Palestine. How can one consider the establishment of a Jewish State and not consider partition?

The Palcor reporter was right on the job. He heard everything the Congress heard. He honestly reported that partition was favored because without trying to save the faces of the voters that it exactly what happened.

It is no wonder that the World Zionist Congress is afraid of the repercussions of its vote. Why did it not think of this before it went on record, as it says, of favoring the establishment of a Jewish State.

But no better proof of the Congress' regret at its vote is needed than Chaim Weizmann's about face when he allowed the Jewish Agency to decide to follow the words of Felix Warburg and the American representatives on the agency for a round table discussion leading to an amicable agreement between Jew and Arab. The American delegation had first walked out when Weizmann refused to listen.

The Congress had no right to agree to the British proposal. It did so, it appears now in the light of new revelations, at the express wish of Chaim Weizmann, who had agreed with the British Foreign office to accept partition before the Congress met.

And so the World Zionist Congress by its one decision loses more prestige and power and authority than by any other single move or group of moves made since Herzlian Zionism. In the two days the vote of the Congress is disregarded, as it should be, and the contention of Felix Warburg that the final decision rests with the Jewish Agency established as a principle.

The decline of the World Zionist Congress is now inevitable. Henceforth its deliberations will be known as those of a party. When the wish of the Jews of the world in respect to Palestine is wanted, the World Zionist Congress will not be queried. The Jewish Agency without interference will make that request known.

There Stands A Man

OUT OF the partition fiasco and the attendant events has come stalking across the scene like a great and imposing figure a man with whose destiny the fate of Israel may be tied in a manner not unlike Moses and the wandering Jews.

While the partition has been fought and denounced, while the plan to divide Palestine into three parts has been lauded and advocated, there have come the words of one leader which are very likely to be the guiding principle for what actually may take place in the settlement of Arab-Jewish difficulty.

The man is not unknown. His works have advertised him as a profound scholar, a patriarchal leader, whose far-seeing vision and calm-like advice has been too little heeded in the past.

He is Dr. Judah L. Magnes, chancellor of the Hebrew University in Jerusalem. Arab and Jew must go out of their way to conciliate one another. They must work hand in hand. These are the words of Dr. Magnes. In the past, Dr. Magnes declared, neither sought to find a common ground for the solution of their difficulties. They both watched after their own interest to the exclusion of that of their neighbor; he pointed out.

And therein, in a trial of a mutual state with proper understanding of Jew for Arab and Arab for Jew, may lie a real solution. It is unfortunate that the Jew should have allowed affairs to degenerate to the point wherein the Arab populace could have been aroused to rioting.

Conciliation and mutual respect.

Out of the embroglio of World Zionist Congress, Agency meeting, the League of Nations discussion and the English parliamentary debate has come the hope-bringing proposal of this heroic figure.

As events stand now, it is quite likely that the partition will be delayed until Dr. Magnes' advice can be tested. With the partition as a foreboding cloud on the horizon, it is possible that this new era of cooperation will be successfully launched, and then bring to Palestine that peace to which the war-torn land may lead the rest of the world.

Comments On Current Topics

New York Herald Tribune Ridicules Samuel Dickstein—"That vigilant watcher on the outer wall, Representative Samuel F. Dickstein, who a short time ago foresaw an invasion by alien actors, which he proposed to defeat by a quota system—a plan warmly supported by the Minsky brothers, among others jealous of the welfare of the American stage—has discerned another peril. This is within the citadel itself. It consists of the existence in New York and New Jersey of "Nazi groups," which Mr. Dickstein characterized in the House of Representatives as "well organized, subversive, un-American spy system," whose origin and activities, he said, should be investigated. A list of forty-six persons described as "expert spies and agitators" was appended.

It is reassuring to note that while in March Representative Dickstein told Congress that Nazis were drilling in fourteen states; and more than 100,000 troopers in this country had sworn allegiance to Hitler, while 100 spies plotted to overthrow the government, the list has now declined to forty-six—a loss of 54 per cent. With cooler weather it may shrink still further.

"To the unsuspecting, 'Nazi groups,' which are alleged to be subversive cells, seem too much addicted to songs and beer to have treasonable aims. Neighbors complain that they make a good deal of noise, but that is hardly the way of serious conspirators. In so far as they wear hypens, they are stupid and short-sighted, like all other hyphenates; they are denying themselves the best gift open for their acceptance, true citizenship in a great nation. But that is their loss, and the threat to America is not worth the swatting. Representative Dickstein should reset his spy catcher."

Patriarch Miron Christea, supreme leader of the Greek Orthodox Church of Rumania in a statement published in many papers throughout Rumania—"The Jews have caused an epidemic of corruption and social unrest. They monopolize the press, which, with the aid of foreign help, continually flays all the spiritual treasures of the Rumanians. One feels like crying with pity for the good Rumanian nation, whose very narrow has been sucked from its bones by the Jews.

To defend ourselves is a national and patriotic duty, not anti-Semitic. Lack of measures to get rid of this plague would indicate that we were lazy cowards who let ourselves be carried alive to our graves.

Why should the Jews enjoy the privilege of living like parasites upon our backs? Why should we not get rid of these parasites who suck Rumanian Christian blood? It is logical and holy to react against them.

To dislocate Arabs from their homes in Palestine for the sake of the Jew is neither right nor humane. The duty of a Christian is to live himself first and to see that his needs are satisfied. Only then can he help his neighbor if he approaches him with a clean soul and in a spirit of good neighborliness."

Freedom Of The Press

Defends Senator Weiss

This is an answer to critics of Senator Weiss's recent letter to United States Senator Sherman Minton. This letter, which was read into the congressional record, was a statement on behalf of Indianapolis Zionists concerning the appointment of Senator Black to the Supreme Court. It defended Senator Black's appointment against those who allege that Black is unfit for the Supreme Court bench because of his connection with the Klan. This allegation to this day remains unproved.

Upon investigation it is found that Senator Copeland of New York raised the Klan issue in his fight against Black's appointment. Looking further into the record it is found that Copeland is a candidate for Mayor of New York City. Copeland's charges, however, smack of insincerity; in the opinion of many news commentators, they are a grandstand play to gain the attention of the Jewish population of New York City.

Senator Copeland has good reason to be jealous of the enviable position his opponent La Guardia is in. La Guardia has been able to muster the favorable sentiment of the Jews of New York by his public denunciations of Hitler, for which Cordell Hull found it necessary to apologize to Germany on various occasions. Because of this La Guardia has gained the admiration and political support of much of the Jewish population of New York.

The Jewish voting population of New York are something to be reckoned with to win an election. Is it any wonder, therefore, that Senator Copeland should seize upon any occasion to denounce the Klan and link Senator Black with it in a pseudo attempt to block the Senate's confirmation of the appointment? The press reports in the New York papers of Copeland's speeches in the Senate, condemning the Klan and those whom it supported at one time, are first-rate campaign literature. Senator Copeland was taking full advantage of political strategy.

He knows that Senator Black is a great liberal. Senator Copeland knows that Senator Black has fearlessly gone on record on every important question ever to face the Senate since he became a member of that august body. He knows that the record shows Senator Black to be a person of great tolerance, one who has never uttered a word that has the remotest connection with religious bigotry and intolerance.

Is it any wonder that Senator Weiss became infuriated and felt he should voice his opinion both for himself and for the organization of which he is president and official spokesman? Who else could speak for the Jews than its recognized leader? A leader in whom faith and trust had been placed when he was elected president of the Zionist Organization of Indianapolis.

Are we to deal in technical questions as to whether or not Senator Weiss was authorized to speak in behalf of Zionists at a time which called for prompt action? Or whether the Zionist Organization should meddle in political questions? This was a time for action. There was no time to call meetings to obtain authorization. Senator Weiss is charged with dragging Zionism into a political question. Is not the very theory of Zionism linked up with the political state? Senator Weiss's letter was motivated by high ideals and principles and shows an alertness always to defend our people where it may directly or indirectly become endangered.

My dealings with Senator Weiss have taught me that he is a conscientious and ardent Zionist. His (Continued on Last Page)

Notes

Most of us have been waiting for it to get warm so we would know that summer is here, and now that we have been rewarded we find that autumn is just around the corner, and Rosh Hashonah is one week hence. . . . Last Saturday found Mildred and Evelyn Lob ducking into all the little shops for their fall outfits. . . . For all we know, they might have paid a visit to Carol's also, since Mildred seems to be mysteriously attracted to the place. . . . What charms do these out-of-town young men have that just nullify all the local fellows' efforts? . . . Estelle Levin, also downtown Saturday, was telling us about sister, Jessie, who is now working in some small town near Dayton, O. . . . Jessie will be going to Lansing, Mich., this fall to school. . . . Another one leaving town for education is Phyllis Greenberg who is planning to attend Wisconsin University.

Stamp Collector

Although few of our local lights are philatelists, (stamp collectors to you), there are several active ones. . . . Ben Prince spent this last Thursday and Friday in Asheville, N. C., attending the International Exposition, sponsored by the American Philatelic Society. Mr. Prince is a member of the Indiana Stamp Club, and specializes in U. S. Commemoratives. . . . Some of you young people who are always complaining about having little to do, ought to sit down and send in an entry for the Youth Oratorical Contest. . . . They have some very fine questions this year, and the prizes are quite substantial. . . . Entries should be sent in immediately, and manuscripts should be in by October.

About Movies

The news from "Film Row" was gleaned first hand this week, and what a handful we picked up. . . . Warner Bros. and First National Pictures had a special preview at the Ritz last Monday and Tuesday, and since it was decided that our readers should always keep abreast of the news, I was there too. . . . Only incidental to my duty, was the fact that I was curious to see what crop of pictures was in store for all of my friends this fall, and I may say now, without reservation, that there is nothing to fear. . . . all will be well. . . . Especially one short film starring Charlie McCarthy, who is my favorite radio star—girls, if you haven't seen him in the movies, you haven't lived. . . . Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 p.m., after sitting for three hours looking at the screen, scenes from "The Life of Emile Zola" were shown, and the audience began to gasp. . . . One must eat, you know, and it would have been difficult to decide whether to satisfy the stomach or the brain. . . . However, in the nick of time, Fred Greenberg, general big shot of Warner Bros., here, confided that this was just a "trailer" and that the entire picture would be shown after lunch. . . . A real tribute to the picture was the attitude of Betty Lapinska, who sat with unwavering eyes directed towards the screen, and disturbed herself only momentarily when she would, figuratively speaking, hiss the villains. . . . Others at the theatre were Phyllis Weiss, Helaine Sternberger—both standing out in front during intermission. . . . and Leo Cantor, so very rushed.

Little Cupid

Cupid is again on the march. . . . Jeanette Solotken and Harry Alpert have set their wedding date for September, and Mollie Levinsky and Ben Mansfield are due to take the vows in October. . . . We understand that Ann Bolotin has an "understanding" with a young man, also. . . . And there are Connie Feldman and Leonard Burnsten who insist that is "purely platonic". . . . That is undoubtedly very true.

News

Does anybody have a dog that he would like to give away? Dr. Bennett Kraft wants a big one for a hiking companion—one must have protection. . . . Saw Alex Katz in the Indiana National Bank last week, grinning like a Cheshire cat, and all because of his new little daughter, Ann. . . . One of our happy couples left us for Kokomo. . . . Julius and Ann Bryan are now conducting a business there. . . . If I were a man I'd buy my clothes for fall at Argus-Yaver. . . . the taste in haberdashery or whoever buys for the store is unexcelled.

At Little America

Out at Little America last week, we witnessed the budding of young love in the person of Arv Rothschild and Betty Katz, who is visiting Jeanette Levenson. . . . It seems that they have "things in common", and only incidental is the fact that Betty is a very charming young lady. . . . Others out practicing their golf game were Sylvia Maierson, Carolyn Myers, Billy and Marvin Borman, Ed Rose, Gaby Schuchman, Bernice Kline, and Adele Levy. . . . Dr. Harry Rabb prefers the tennis courts, and Dick Efrogmson, Sam and Jim Brill brush up on their golf drives.

Items from here and there include the date of Oct. 17 for the wedding of Jason Klain and Ruth Resnick, both of Marion, Ind. . . . Aaron Goldman is having difficulty forgetting about a New York girl, although his local friends are doing their best. . . . Maurice Epstein, just returned from Virginia Beach, carries with him the memory of a red-headed girl who is soon to visit here. . . . Louis Stauber is destined to pursue a theatrical career this fall with the Priscilla Beach Theatre group in Plymouth, Mass. . . . Ironically enough, the week preceeding Josh Fineberg's dismissal from the State Securities Commission on the charge of party disloyalty, an article and a picture of Josh was run in the "Hoosier Sentinel", lauding him for exceptionally fine party regularity and loyalty.

RE-ELECTED BY VETS

Isadore Levin of Hammond, Ind., was re-elected national committee-man of the American Legion, at the State convention in Terre Haute last week.

Indiana-Kentucky B'nai B'rith To Meet In Muncie Oct. 3

The 17th annual convention of the Indiana-Kentucky State Association of B'nai B'rith will be held in Muncie, on Sunday, Oct. 3 with President Samuel P. Moise, of Gary, presiding.

The highlights of the convention are an address in the afternoon by Samuel Mantel, junior past-president of the association, a discussion led by Paul Richman, National Director Bureau of Membership and Cultural Activities, and a banquet in the evening, the principal address of which will be delivered by Richard Gutstadt, National Director. Isidor Feibleman, Past President of District 2, will act as master of ceremonies.

Complete program of the convention will be announced later.

Oratorical Contest Final Entry Date Set For September 1

September 1st is the final date for entries for the Jewish Youth Oratorical contest, sponsored by the Beth El Men's Club and the Jewish Community Center Association. Entrants are urged to phone the Kirshbaum immediately.

During the first week in September, instructions and a list of questions will be sent to all those who enter. Manuscripts are to be prepared from any of the questions given. $50 in cash prizes are to be awarded to the winners.

Winners in past years of the high school and college divisions were Alex Levin, Gordon Messing, Gordon Jacobs, Ebner Blass, Lester Engle, Harry Alpert, Alexander Kahn, Joseph Calderon, Sylvia Lichtenberg, Lawrence Frommer, and Jeannette Levenson.

Selichos Services At Shara Tefilla Tonight

Congregation Shara Tefilla, South Meridian and Merrill Streets, the oldest orthodox synagogue in the State, will hold Selichos services as customary, tonight at midnight. Cantor A. Portnov will render the beautiful liturgy in the traditional inspiring manner.

Shara Tefilla has just completed an extensive remodeling program. The entire basement has been completely changed. Dividing walls have been removed and a combined social room and vestry now occupies the full width of the building and practically the entire basement. Complete facilities for preparing and serving food have been provided so that the modernized room can be used for social gatherings of all kinds, as well as club and organization meetings. Formal dedication will take place in the near future and an elaborate program is being planned for the occasion.

The Seat Committee will be on duty tonight at 9 p.m., until services at midnight and every evening thereafter from 7 to 9 p.m. Those who desire to attend services are urged to make reservations as early as possible.

The Question:

Do you think that the younger generation of Jews is less religious than their parents?

Answers:

Mrs. Jacob Schwartz.

I don't think they are. The younger people are trying their best to hold on to what they have, while the older ones are loosening up. Their interest is intense, they try to study and discuss their problems among themselves, and are doing their best to keep their religion.

Arvin Rothschild.

Without a doubt young people are much less religious. Perhaps one out of fifty actually uphold all the teachings and ceremonies which have kept the group together throughout all these years. I think that the parents are at fault. They, themselves, don't observe things, and if they would make their home more Jewish and insist upon their children observing customs, it would make the Jewish group stronger. Young people are growing farther and farther away from their religion.

Mrs. Aaron Dee.

Yes and no. There are some young people who are drifting away, but then, again, there are a lot who are more religious than their parents. I don't think they show it as much, but basically, they are just as observant.

Mrs. Theodore Medias.

I don't think their feeling is less religious. Their outward display may have a tendency to be less intense than their parents, but their Jewish feeling is inbred, even if they don't express it to the world at large.

Gabriel M. Cohen.

The younger generation is many, many more times religious than the "lost generation", who are our parents. The "lost generation" refused to give us any normal stability by imbuing us with the religious precepts which their parents handed down to them. If it were not for our revolt, the life of Judaism in America would pass away with the "lost generation."

BIRTHDAY BIOGRAPHIES

There Need Be No Conflict Between Career And Marriage, Mrs. Rosenak Says

"There need be no conflict between marriage and a career," says Fannie Kiser Rosenak, young and charming head of the harp department of the Arthur Jordan Conservatory of Music. "While music plays a great part in my life, I'm primarily interested in my home and I devote my evenings to my husband. Of course," she laughingly confesses, "I don't have time for bridge and other diversions."

A former pupil of Mildred Dilling, young Mrs. Rosenak combines graciousness, beauty and charm with a brilliant musical talent. Once at a tea given by Miss Dilling she met Harpo Marx, also a former pupil of Miss Dilling and the guest of honor. "That was a thrill," Mrs. Rosenak says. But her biggest thrill came when she was asked to play in an ensemble at Radio City Music Hall where she filled a two weeks' engagement. "It was marvelous," she says.

Mrs. Rosenak is looking forward to entertaining her friends in her new home on East 45th Street which will be ready for occupancy about September 1st and which she has had a "lot of fun" building. As she put it, "I love to entertain."

Mrs. Rosenak is a person of wide enthusiasm and as a result, her life is a well-rounded one. Born in Indianapolis Sept. 10, 1912, she is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Kiser and has lived in Indianapolis all her life except for a year spent in the east shortly after her marriage. In December of 1933 she was married to Dr. Bernard D. Rosenak. She attended the public schools here, was graduated from Tudor Hall and spent two years at Sarah Lawrence College and in New York where she began her study with Miss Dilling.

A thoroughgoing musician, she has done considerable concertizing both here and in the east but "lately, I've enjoyed teaching most," she says. Last winter she was soloist with the Foster ensemble which gave a program of Foster music at the home of Mr. J. K. Lilly. She is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota Musical Sorority, the Harmonie Club and the Matinee Musicale in which organization she is extremely active. When the Matinee Musicale presented a library of symphonic music to the Indiana State Library, Mrs. Rosenak was chosen to play at the dedication exercises. Two years ago she played an entire program at the John Herron Art Institute and received high critical praise. "When I was younger I had ambitions for the concert stage," she says, "but since I'm married I'm much too interested in my home."

Her graciousness and youthful charm make her a fascinating person to talk to. Recently, her biggest "kick" came when she was able to present one of her own pupils in a complete recital program. Her pupils, no doubt, adore her.

A popular member of the young married set, she is a member of the Council of Jewish Women and the Temple Sisterhood, and she devotes a good deal of time to active club work. How she manages it along with three to four hours of practice on the harp every day is difficult to understand, but she is gifted with the ability to live a full life and to combine gracefully the essential elements of a successful musical career with those of homemaking, club work and participation in social activities.

Double funeral services were held Thursday afternoon in the Aaron-Ruben Funeral Home for Mrs. Thomas Cohen and her daughter, Mrs. Harry Markowitz, both of Miami, Fla., who were injured fatally in an automobile accident Monday night near New Smyrna Beach, Fla. Both Mrs. Cohen and Mrs. Markowitz, former residents of Indianapolis, had been visiting here, and were en route home at the time of the crash. Mrs. Cohen was the widow of Thomas Cohen, who died two years ago. She is survived by a brother, Louis Cohen of New York. Mrs. Markowitz is survived by her husband, who was injured in the accident, and a baby son. Burial was in the Shara Tefilla cemetery, with Rabbi Elias Charry and Rabbi S. Katz officiating.

A History Of The Jews Of Indianapolis

By HARRY DALE

The History of The Temple

The auspicious start of the Temple did not conceal signs of future dissension. In a Jewish community where various degrees of liberalism and orthodoxy existed, and with but a single place of worship, internal dissension was inevitable. By 1861 factional disputes had reduced the membership to 13 who, realizing the need of strong leadership if the group was not to disintegrate, elected Rev. Mr. Moses as a Rabbi. He installed many liberalizing tenets and employed a choir. Under his leadership the Temple became definitely Reformed.

In 1863 Dr. Kalisch became the Rabbi. The membership reached 50 and the congregation prospered. The need for larger quarters became pressing. The Rev. Mr. Wechsler for a second time became the Rabbi and undertook the campaign to raise funds for the building of a Temple. The following year a lot was purchased on East Market Street and the building completed in 1865. Financial difficulties delayed the dedication until October 1868. The newspapers of the day were evidently preoccupied with the national election, and we are unable to find any record of the ceremonies.

In 1867 the Rev. Morris Messing was elected Rabbi. Under his Rabbinate, the Temple membership grew steadily until by 1889 when Dr. Morris M. Feuerlicht succeeded him, there were 225 members with a Sunday School class of 250. During this time, the elaborate building at 11th and Delaware Streets was erected.

Dr. Feuerlicht has been at the Temple 38 years. The history of the Temple these 38 years has been one of a steady growth, and the fostering of pleasanter relations with the non-Jewish community. By a policy of participating in non-Jewish projects, exchanging pulpits, and a completely charitable outlook on his fellowmen, he has become a person of high general esteem. In 1924 he was named in a local newspaper project as one of the ten leading citizens of Indianapolis. Indianapolis Jewry is fortunate in having such an outstanding representative.

MISH-MASH: An important man-behind-the-scenes in the Costa Rican colonization plan set in motion by the quiet Refugee Economic Corporation was Leo R. Sack, former United States Minister to Costa Rica..... As a private individual, rather than a representative of the United States, he worked closely with the Costa Rican Government and the R. E. C. on the plans and paved way for the ultimate contract..... Incidentally, the New York Times story on the completion of the negotiations was a scoop and an accidental one at that..... It had been intended to keep the thing quiet until the colonization itself was well under way..... Geza Herczeg, co-author of that swell Emile Zola film (story and script), may be less well known as the author of the Al Jolson musical vehicle, "Wonder Bar"..... And as the husband of Leopoldina Konstantina, an "Aryan" actress who is still very popular in Germany despite her Jewish husband..... Herczeg, you ought to know, too, is the man who adapted Mussolini's play about Napoleon, which was produced in Germany..... And the Herczeg adaptation was the one used in Naziland, too, at the insistence of Mussolini himself..... Not only has the Lone Star State of Texas got a town named Palestine, but, believe it or not, it has one named Rosenberg..... As far as we've been able to check there are only three Jerusalems in all the United States, while there were ten Palestines at the last count..... Did you know that Father Coughlin's organ, Social Justice, has gained mightily in its Yorkville circulation?.....

Congress Denies Partition Plan Was Advocated

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

ZURICH—An inaccurate report by the Palcor News Agency that the World Zionist Congress had adopted a resolution favoring acceptance of Palestine partition threatened to cut from the general budget an allotment of 3,200 pounds (about $16,000) for the Zionist publicity bureau.

Sixty delegates from twelve countries, including nine from the United States, who voted for the Congress resolution empowering the Executive to negotiate with Great Britain on proposed establishment of a Jewish State, signed a protest against the inaccurate report. The protest, accuses the Kongress Zeitung (official organ of the Zionist Congress) of the same inaccuracy.

Among the signers of the strongly-worded protest were a number of Palestine labor leaders, including Berl Katznelson, editor of Davar, Palestine laborite daily; I. Neustadt, general secretary of Histadruth (Palestine Jewish Labor Federation); Mrs. Goldie Myerson, Mr. Meremonisky and other prominent Palestine figures.

The protest they signed reads: "We express our embitterment and surprise against the editor of the Kongress Zeitung and Palcor for their inaccuracy in reporting the majority resolution of the Congress in a sense interpreted to mean that the Congress allegedly decided in favor of partition when in fact the resolution took no attitude on partition and postponed the whole matter for a decision at the next Congress. In a matter which is of the greatest importance to the fate of the Zionist movement, the greatest accuracy must be exercised and incorrect interpretations avoided."

Radio Carries Denial

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—The recent World Zionist Congress in Zurich, did not endorse the proposal to partition Palestine, Morris Margulies, secretary of the Zionist Organization of America, insisted in an address under Z. O. A. auspices over station WMCA.

Pointing out that the congress vote had been confined to the question of establishing a Jewish State, Mr. Morgulies declared:

"When we consider the question of a Jewish State today, the paramount issue must be: Will the Jewish State be able to continue to absorb large numbers of Jews from trouble centers in Europe?"

All Expenses Paid By Sale Of Report

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

LONDON—The Royal Commission report on Palestine has proved to be such a best seller that sales of the 404-page volume have completely defrayed the costs of the six-month inquiry and left a profit.

The first printing of 10,000 copies, offered for sale July 8 at six shillings sixpence, went in practically no time. A second printing of 10,000 is planned and orders for 14,000 copies have already been received. The Palestine inquiry cost 2,000 pounds (about $10,000).

"It is the only profit to any party from this unfortunate business," comments the London Jewish Chronicle.

OUR FILM FOLK of HOLLYWOOD

By HELEN ZIGMOND

HOLLYWOOD—It seems strange..... the Chaplin studio has never been fully equipped for talkies. His last picture was mostly synchronized music with little talking. If he holds to his determination to star Paulette Goddard, he will have to completely modernize the plant for sound.

Lew Pollack and Sidney Mitchell, note-jotters, trust no one, not even the air waves. They do their work in a room so sound-proof that no high C can escape. Every night they lock their inspirations in a vault controlled by a time lock..... and are there every morning when it opens.

It's good to see old-timers make a smash comeback. Solly Ward, well-known to the stage for years, is sans-a-tional as a comic Russian officer in "Flight from Glory". We hope he'll continue to pursue a film career..... or vice versa.

Mischa Auer's next role will be that of a swami. It requires a difficult make-up. Mischa reports for work at 6:30 a.m. Finding it cuts into his rest considerably, he asked what Karloff did in a similar situation. The make-up man showed him how to take a comfortable position during the tedious application. Auer took the relaxing pose, and no longer worries about lost sleep..... makes it up in the barber chair every morning.

Ben Blue reports finding this on a menu at one of the studio commissaries: "Chopped chicken liver sandwich (kosher style) with bacon!"

Dots and Dashes: Michael Loring has wound up his career for the time being..... leaves to become a legitimate (take it either way you like) actor in Cape Cod, Massachusetts—The Max Baers heir in December.. Abe Lyman helped Paul Whiteman form his first band—They both were once Chicago cabbies..... Sid Silvers raises frogs—claims they're a source of income, a table delicacy, and they've cured him of insomnia....

eGeorge Burns whispers that the funniest part of the Gracie Allen-Fred Astaire flicker will never be seen—that was Gracie's dance rehearsals—A watchman, so we're told, sits outside the Jolson nursery all night to guard the baby.

Luise Rainer means well..... but her English doesn't always make the meaning clear. The studio phoned her the other day to ask if she knew her casting call, that is, the time and place of her next appearance on the set. "No thank you," she said sweetly and hung up.

On finishing his last picture, Jack Benny reversed the procedure of gift-giving. He gave the largest checks to the lowest salaried workers..... to his colleagues he gave a dollar each.... to the director, a two-cent stamp..... in all, he passed out a thousand dollars.

Another addition to the Sammy Sagar concerns the great Goldwyn discussing agents. "I hate agents," exclaims Sam, "I hate them so much that I don't even bother to ignore them!"

Good Shabbas.

500,000 TREES PLANTED IN PALESTINE LAST YEAR

J.N.F. Reports Huge Planting Despite Pillage

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

JERUSALEM—A victory of plow and spade over gun and arsonist's torch is being celebrated here by the Jewish National Fund, agency for purchase and development of lands for the Jewish national home.

During the planting season since last year's Arab revolt the Jewish National Fund succeeded in planting trees far more rapidly than marauders had been able to destroy them. The final outcome of the race of planting against destruction, revealed in Karnenu, magazine published by the J. N. F. was:

Trees destroyed last year—54,000.

Trees planted this year—506,000.

All the trees killed last year have been replaced, and 332,215 more have been planted, plus 35,436 in the King George V Jubilee Forest in Nahalal, 28,000 along the banks of the Naamen River in the northern section of Emek Zevulun, and a planting of eucalyptus trees in that settlement. Also, a start was made on the planting of a "Green Belt" which will divide the residential from the industrial zone of Emek Zevulun. Eight rows totaling 4,000 trees were planted along an avenue a kilometre in length.

As far as possible the Tree Fund purchased saplings from the settlements responsible for maintaining the forests. Income from the sale of these saplings, and from the employment connected with forestation, is an important factor in the well-being of the settlements.

Pine trees continued to hold first place among the plantings, representing 22 per cent of the season's total. Carob trees are increasing in importance, since they are forest as well as fruit trees. Besides bearing fruit in the seventh or eighth year after planting, the carob has the asset of resisting fire. All the carob trees at Mishmar Haemek and in the Balfour Forest that were damaged by fire during the rebellion have since revived.

The total number of trees planted by J. N. F. up to the end of the current year is 2,191,838, on an area of 8,992 dunams (about 2,250 acres).

BALLAD CHARGES MURDER

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

BUDAPEST—The Hungarian, Josef Erdelyi, has published a ballad entitled "The Blood of Esther Solymosi," reviving the charge that the girl who was slain in 1882 in Tisza Ecszar was murdered for Jewish ritual purposes. The charge had been found baseless in a celebrated trial in 1884.

Kobrosky To Play Against Pro Team

By MORRIS WEINER

NEW YORK—Despite the great number of really good Jewish grid-ders in the Mid-West during the 1936 season none has been selected to play with the all-stars in its charity game against the pro-football champions, but in the East, of all the Jewish talent, Mickey Kobrosky, of Trinity College, Connecticut, will be carrying the mail.

Mickey played for Trinity for four years. For three seasons he was selected on the Associated Press "Little-All-America" in a backfield post. During those three years he was up with the top notch scorers in the East and once, when he was runner-up for the National point-harvesting title, he was far ahead of the touchdown makers in the East—the first Jewish high scorer. Of course he was captain of Trinity—the first time in the history of ehat small Hartford College that a Jew was the key man on its football team.

Playing for a minor college Kobrosky didn't rate as much publicity in his four years of Varsity history of that small Hartford College in his soph season with Pitt that wound up in the Rose Bowl. But the facts that Trinity is a Jesuit school, that Mickey was the first athlete ever to attain national recognition for his school, and the fact that he was captain during the 1935 and 1936 season still did not prevent him from replying to our query as to whether he was Jewish with the words—"And how! One hundred percent."—Mickey is that kind of guy.

New Arab Revolt Thought Coming

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

JERUSALEM—Another Arab revolt in Palestine is being drummed up throughout the Near East over the issue of partition of the Holy Land, according to an editorial in Palestine Review, English language periodical published here. Citing the increasingly frequent acts of terrorism by Arabs as evidence of the insecurity of peace in Palestine, the magazine sounds the alarm against the predicted rebellion, declaring that the leaders of Arab armed bands which carried on guerilla warfare in the 1936 rebellion have reassembled from all parts of the Near East in Damascus.

Arab terrorists are continually smuggling large consignments of arms and ammunition into Palestine from across the Syrian frontier, the seacoasts and the deserts, the Review adds, while inland Arabs are being trained intensively for a new terrorism campaign.

"There is no reason to doubt reports that all recent outrages are merely the perpetrators' preliminary trials of strength," the Review says. "At the same time agitators are inciting Arab villagers to defend lands against seizure when the plan is put into effect."

Compromise May Avoid Partition And Bring Peace

Declaration and the mandate.

4. Terming the Royal Commission partition proposals unacceptable, it empowers the Executive to enter into negotiations with a view to ascertaining the British Government's precise terms for the proposed establishment of a Jewish State. In the event of the emergence of a definite scheme, the Executive is instructed to bring it before a special session of the Jewish Agency Council for consideration and decision.

It is noteworthy that the provision for Arab-Jewish parleys preceeds the provision for negotiations on establishment of a Jewish State, leading to the inference that the former is to be sought first; also, that this resolution provides for making the Agency's Council the body for "consideration and decision" on whatever scheme arises, rather than a specially-convoled World Zionist Congress as provided in the Zionist resolution.

Mrs. Jacobs 1st Woman Member

The council adjourned after a short speech by Dr. Weizmann expressing satisfaction with the outcome and the unity achieved.

The two new non-Zionist members of the Executive are Mrs. Edward Jacobs of New York, president of Hadassah and believed to be the first woman to be elected to the position, and Dr. Arthur Rupp of Jerusalem. The other non-Zionist members, all elected unanimously, are Dr. Maurice J. Karpf, of New York, and Dr. Maurice Hexter and Dr. Werner Senator of Jerusalem. Menachem M. Ussishkin of Jerusalem received a seat in the Executive.

American non-Zionists, led by Mr. Warburg, left for home expressing satisfaction with the results of the session.

Ben-Gurion May Resign

The harmony in which the session closed was threatened by the statement of David Ben-Gurion, Palestine laborite leader, that he intended to resign from the Executive in what was understood to be a protest against adding two non-Zionists to make the ratio five non-Zionists to seven Zionists.

Although the new members of the Executive are themselves Zionists, they were selected as non-Zionists, and Mr. Ben-Gurion is known to oppose in principle any increase in non-Zionist representation in the Executive.

Labor Zionist groups, comprising almost half of the Zionist strength, remained in Zurich and discussed in camera the situation created by their leader's threat to resign from the Agency Executive.

Dr. Weizmann, before leaving for London, to emphasize his satisfaction with the outcome of the sessions, wired greetings to Warburg before the latter's departure. In London Dr. Weizmann was to present to the British Colonial Office the resolutions and organize the political work of the Agency along the lines of the resolutions.

Dr. Judah L. Magnes, non-Zionist president of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, had been mentioned as a prospective member of the Agency Executive, but said before leaving for Paris that under no circumstances would he accept a nomination for the position.

Paper Says Magnes Sought Peace Meet

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

JERUSALEM—Dr. Judah L. Magnes, president of the Hebrew University, negotiated with the Arab delegation at Geneva regarding convocation of an Arab-Jewish round-table conference to seek a peaceful settlement of difficulties in Palestine, Davar, Hebrew daily reported.

Dr. Magnes has been leading a movement for establishment of a bi-national Arab-Jewish State in an undivided Palestine and was the author of a resolution to this effect introduced at last week's meeting of the Jewish Agency Council in Zurich, Switzerland.

According to Davar, the Arabs stipulated as a condition for negotiations the establishment of an Arab national government in Palestine with safeguards for Jewish minority rights, and stoppage of Jewish immigration and land purchases.

Dr. Magnes, the paper said, offered as a counter-proposal a bi-national State with limitation of Jewish immigration. He promised, the account added, that American members would seek to obtain the consent of the Zionists and the Jewish Agency for Palestine to this arrangement.

The Arabs, however, are believed to have rejected this offer, Davar said.

According to the apparently conflicting story also published by Davar, Palestinian Arab leaders were much perturbed over reports that their delegation at Geneva had consented to the holding of the round-table. However, Arab delegates returning from Switzerland assured the Arab Supreme Committee, Davar said, that there was no reason to oppose the meeting, since it was no more than a tactical move, in accordance with the advice of friends of the Arabs in London and Geneva, to undermine the partition proposal and split the Zionists and Jewish non-Zionists.

Worship By All Classes To Mark Rosh Hashonah

By Conference of Jews, Christians

NEW YORK—Linked by the bond of Jewish religion, millions in every corner of the world will gather in houses of prayer Sunday evening, Sept. 5, to usher in the year 5698.

Lofty temple or squalid little schul or improvised synagogue in soldiers' encampment, the central note will be the same—it is Rosh Hashonah, the solemn New Year Day, and the beginning of the High Holiday season.

Jewish members of the armed forces of the United States and the Civilian Conservation Corps have received the usual annual furlough to return home for the holiday season, or they can worship with facilities provided by the Army and Navy Committee of the Jewish Welfare Board.

Philanthropic organizations are making arrangements for persons confined in institutions to worship. In homes for the aged, convalescent homes and hospitals in many parts of the country services will be conducted. In New York, even the Jewish deaf will be able to worship at silent services.
